Gorilla Glue Earns the Good Housekeeping Seal

CINCINNATI (June 1, 2008) -- The Gorilla Glue Company today announced that it has earned the Good Housekeeping Seal, one of the most prestigious and trusted endorsement icons in the world of consumer goods, for its entire Gorilla Glue family of products, which includes Gorilla Glue, Gorilla Super Glue Impact-Tough Formula, Gorilla Wood Glue, the Gorilla Glue Precision Glue Pen and Gorilla Tape.

The Good Housekeeping Seal was introduced in 1909 by the Good Housekeeping Research Institute. It is the foremost symbol of quality assurance and consumer protection in America. Seal-backed products are covered by Good Housekeeping’s two-year money-back or replacement warranty.

“We are delighted to have earned accreditation from the Good Housekeeping Institute,” says Jennifer Dowdall, vice president of marketing and innovation for the Gorilla Glue Company. “By passing rigorous consumer quality assessment tests, this stamp of approval reassures consumers of Gorilla Glue’s quality, toughness and performance.”

A recent consumer survey shows a 95% positive awareness of the GH Seal. The Seal is helpful in assuring them that a product has met certain quality standards.

A further 85% went on to claim that they would be more likely to buy a product with a Good Housekeeping Institute Seal than a product without.
